

»Caeterum in
clauſtris coram lu-
gentibus fratribus
quid facit illa ri-
di-
cula monſtruofitas,
mira quaedam de-
formis formofitas,
ac formosa defor-
mitas? Quid ibi
immundae ſimiae?
quid feri leones?
quid monſtruofi cen-
tauri? quid ſemi-
homines? quid macu-
loſae tigrides? quid
milites pugnantes?
quid venatores tubi-
cinantes? Videas
ſub uno capite multa
corpora, et rurſus
in uno corpore capita multa. Cerni-
tur hinc in quadru-
pede cauda ſerpen-
tis, illinc in piſce
caput quadrupedis.
Ibi beſtia praefert
equum, capram
trahens retro di-
midiam, hic cornutum
animal equum ge-
ſtat posterius. Tam
multa denique tam-
que mira diverſa-
rum formarum ubi-
que varietas appa-
ret, ut magis legere
libeat in marmori-
bus quam in codici-
bus, totumque diem
occupare ſingula
iſla mirando, quam
in lege Dei meditando. Pro Deum!
ſi non pudet ineptia-
rum cur vel non
piget expenſarum?«

[Was tut weiterhin in den Kreuzgängen vor den trauernden Brüdern jene lächerliche Ungeheuer-

Fig. 83.

Von der Kirche Sant' Ambrogio zu Mailand<sup>27).</sup> 110 w. Gr.

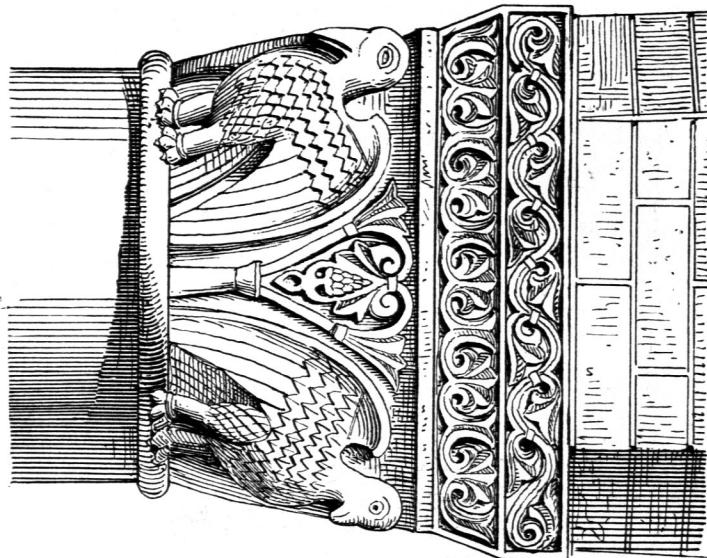

Fig. 84.

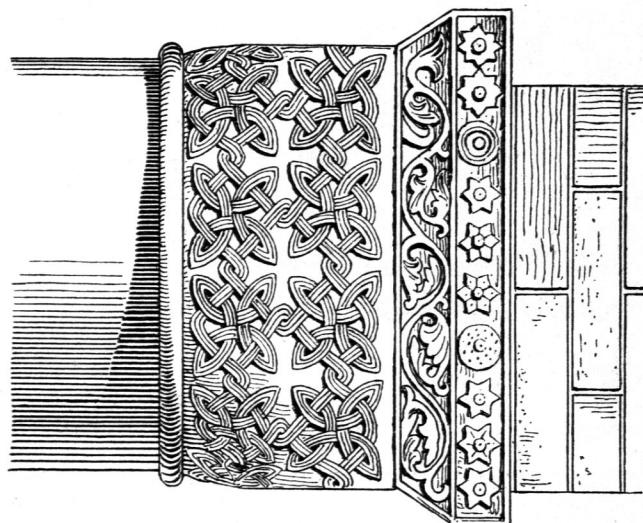

Fig. 85.